

GRISSLE

What?! What are you worried about?

SARAI

Well, it's just that I want to make sure --

They start arguing, ad lib. GRISSLE thinking SARAI is ridiculous because she believes the Holy Spirit may have killed the man and wife, and SARAI because she is concerned Rookie will meet the same fate if he is not honest.)

KERRY

(dusting herself off after her fall)

Hi..... um.... Hi...

(being ignored))

I'm the new CSI..... uh... Do you guys always argue like this?

Enter AGENT from DSR, walking backwards as if walking away from something scary.

GRISSLE AND SARAI

(almost hysterically at KERRY now)

NO! Why are you late?

KERRY

Uhhh, well.. I Uh..

KERRY starts to back away and runs into AGENT who has come up to the stage area where KERRY is. KERRY trips and falls and rolls under the crime scene tape, landing near where the deed and money bag from Ananias and Sapphira is sitting.

AGENT

(completely unaware that she has knocked someone over)

Dead. Dead. Ananias... Sapphira... The Price was Five Hundred Drachma... Five Hundred Drachma!!! Aaaahhhh they're dead.

It's not my fault... they signed the papers..... they knew....aahhhhh ...

(exits hysterically, DSL)

GRISSLE

(calmed down now, sighs)

(To SARAI)

We..... are sounding.... like her..... Sorry. Let's get back to the evidence.

SARAI

Yeah, I'm sorry too. This whole thing is getting to me. Everybody lies. But not everybody dies for it....And if our vics were lying about....

KERRY

(from her position on the ground as she is picking up the money bag and deed)

If who was lying about what?

GRISSLE

Our two dead vics. Ananias and Sapphira, supposedly... lied to the Holy Spirit, or God, or whatever, when making their donation to this new church, trying to look like they were giving more than they were willing to give.

KERRY

Well, this deed with their names on it says the land sold for two hundred and fifty drachma.

SARAI

(a bit sarcastically)

Yes, we are aware of that, having been here long before you fell into the scene.

KERRY

So... didn't I just hear that lady screaming their names and something about papers being signed and the price being Five Hundred Drachma?? I mean, it's just a thought....

GRISSLE

Wow. She may be on to something.

PLAY TRACK. CSI J. Two # 6 - Phone2