Facing Our Giants

Synopsis

Three young counselees have arrived at the Facing Our Giants Counseling Center, but only at the insistence of their parents. They are struggling with some big tasks and problems that feel like they are just too much to handle – failing math, dog-feeding, laundry, bad habits, you name it. They are quite reluctant to admit they can't handle things by themselves until their counselor, Metapel, with humor, gives them tips on how to find the help they need.
